Furs of all kinds Colored
AND
Dressed, and Bought and Sold.

E. Morse & Co.
FURRIERS,
East End Kenduskeag Bridge,
One door from Low's City Market.

WOULD respectfully inform the inhabitants of this city and vicinity, that they will richly Color and Dress all kinds of Furs, and warrant the color to remain fast and preserve its brilliancy and elegance. Fox, Martin and Loup Cervier will be colored and dressed in a manner which cannot be excelled in Europe, notwithstanding it is reported that these skins cannot be dressed and colored in his country. E. M. & Co. will likewise restore the original color of old Fur Caps, thus making new from old. Buffalo Robes will be beautifully colored, and sleigh Robes manufactured.

Those who wish to inform themselves of E. M. & Co's proficiency in the coloring and dressing of Skins, are politely requested to call on Mr. DAVID HILL, to whom they have liberty to refer, and for whom they have done some service. They refer as above in consequence of the efforts of two individuals to injure them in their business.

As the summer and fall is a favorable time to do this work on account of the weather it will be done much cheaper now than in the winter.

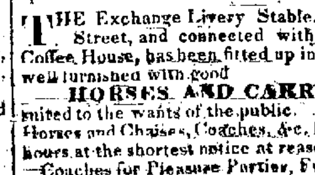

E. M. & Co. will pay the following prices for prime raw Furs, viz:

For Black and Maltese Cat Skins, 40 cts. per skin,
" Loupcervier, $4.
" Muskrat, 20 cts.
" Sable $2.
" Mink $1.
" Grey Squirrel 10 cts.
" Wolf Skins $3.

P. S. E. M. & Co. return thanks for the liberal encouragement which has been tendered them since their residence in Bangor, and would give notice that they are now manufact'g Fur Caps, & cloth do with Fur bands, latest styles; Muffs, Tippets, Boas, Fur Gloves, Buffalo Coats, Sleigh Robes, Moccasins, together with every article in the Fur line worn by Ladies and Gentlemen. Linen Glazed Caps constantly on hand. The above articles will be sold cheap for cash, or will be exchanged for raw Furs.

WRIGHT'S
Indian Vegetable Pills,
OR INDIAN PURGATIVE.

THOUGH many medicines have been before the public for a much longer period than Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills, yet none stands now in higher repute, or has more rapidly attained a firm hold upon popular estimation. The thousands that have used them throughout the length and breadth of the Republic, all bear cheerful testimony to their thorough efficacy and amiid operation, when employed in the most distressing disorders which 'flesh is heir to.' To those, however, who have not used them, who are suffering in the incipient or advanced stages of disease, and who are looking round for weapons wherewith to combat the Destroyer—intelligent inquirers, who must be satisfied with the theory and principle of a course of medical treatment, before they commence, it becomes necessary to make a few preliminary remarks on this invaluable medicine.

The theory of disease on which WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS are founded is this, viz: That there is only one primary cause of all the disorders which afflict the human family, and that is corrupt humors—or, in other words, impurity of Blood. This principle is so generally admitted, that it may in fact be said to be sustained by an universality of opinion—the few dissenters constituting but a very feeble minority. It is useless, therefore, to discuss the soundness of this theory in this place and connection.

The ONE DISEASE PRINCIPLE being admitted, the mode of attack professed by all practitioners becomes the same, viz: Purgation. But many of the so called specifics now before the public produce only one form of purgation; they are either Sudorific, Cathartic, Diuretic or Expectorant.—Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills combine all these properties, and are therefore calculated to attack the elements of disease at all points, and by a harmonious and combined operation, to expel it radically from the system. Their effect is almost magical, and is no less astonishing for its mildness than its efficacy. Both sexes and all ages may employ them, according to the direction without fear, for while they are certain to cure ALL DISEASES that are remediable, they never inflict an injury upon the system.

The ORIGIN of this invaluable medicine entitles it to unlimited confidence and respect. The nearer we approach to nature, in our researches after truth both in science and art, the more complete will be our success in both. Look at the uniform physical condition of the Indian Tribes of this continent, whether exposed to the frosts and storms of the North, or to the rain, heat, and pestilential miasma of Southern climate. Houseless, unprotected, exposed to every atmospheric change, every extreme of the seasons, dwelling at times in morasses and by the margins of unhealthy pools and swamps they yet enjoy an almost total immunity from disease, while the white man, who enjoys all the comforts of civilization, with its attendant arts, is as much inferior to the savage in physical vigor, as he is superior to him in intellectual acquisitions.—How does this happen? Simply because, bereft of the light of science, he relies upon that divine instinct which impels him to select from the produce of the field and forest those remedies which Nature and Nature's God has bounteously provided for the solace of suffering, and the mitigation and cure of disease—sowing them broadcast on every hill and valley. Let those who impiously arraign the good justice of Divine Providence, and point with a sneer to the multitude of invalids who lie groaning upon beds of sickness, turn from the false lights of man, and study the secrets of nature, and they will adore that mercy which has so bountifully provided a cure for every wound—a remedy for all who seek one.

These Pills, as we before remarked, operate by purgation—by thoroughly cleansing the entire system from all impurities, and making the invalid, in the homely but expressive phrase, 'a new man' whether the disease is INCIPIENT CONSUMPTION, which insidiously attacks the Lungs, producing that dry, hacking cough so painful to the friendly ear; or Cutaneous, showing itself upon the skin in eruptions or blotches; whether the Kidneys or the Bowels be affected—Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are equally efficacious in warding off danger. Their expectorant, cathartic, sudorific and diuretic qualities enable them to take hold of each form of disease.

The perfect safety of the medicine is another all important quality, and one which has contributed more than any thing else to its extension and popularity.

In a word, this medicine commends itself strongly to the patronage of the public, and its use bids fair to become, before long, ALMOST UNIVERSAL.

CAUTION:

The citizens of New England are respectfully informed that, in consequence of the great popularity which Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills have earned by their astonishing goodness, a gang of Counterfeiters are now industriously engaged in palming on the unsuspecting a VALUELESS and perhaps dangerous medicine, under the name of Indian Vegetable Pills.

☞ BEWARE OF A. L. NORCROSS, of Hallowell, Maine, who is selling COUNTERFEIT PILLS.

This is to inform the public that the genuine medicine has on the boxes—

"WRIGHT'S INDIAN VEGETABLE PILLS."
—Indian Purgative—
OF THE NORTH AMERICAN COLLEGE OF HEALTH.

And also, around the border of the label will be found in small type—

"Entered according to Act of Congress in the year 1840, by William Wright, in the Clerk's Office of the District Court of the Eastern District of Pennsylvania."

The public will also remember, that all who sell the genuine Indian Vegetable Pills are provided with a certificate of Agency, signed by
WILLIAM WRIGHT, Vice President
Of the North American College of Health:

And that pedlars are never in any case allowed to sell the genuine medicine. All traveling Agents will be provided with a certificate of agency as above described, and those who cannot show one will be known as base impostors.

NEW PRINCIPLES OF PURGATION,
CORNARO'S
Purifying and Preserving PILLS.

THE American public has for a long time been the victim of a false and dangerous system of medicine founded on the practice of LONG CONTINUED AND UNRELIEVED PURGATION. The evils of this old system are of the most wide-spread and alarming character. They have reached through every vein and artery of our nation.—In every city, and village, and hamlet—in every State and Territory of our vast Republic, will be found those who have suffered, or who are still suffering from the injurious effects of this old system, of whose practical utility the disease, decay, and utter prostration of those who test it furnish the most condemning proofs!

COMMON DRASTIC PURGATION

Scours out the system by the most improper and violent means, and then leave it, weak, low, feeble debilitated, to regain its strength as best it may.—Sometimes the consequences of this old Purgative practice are worse than mere Debility. Inflammation of the Bowels, Slow Fever, Bloody Piles, and other horrible disorders are produced, simply from the want of some enlivening and preserving power in the medicine employed. Sometimes the digestive organs are deeply and permanently injured by this coarse and unphilosophical practice, leaving the patient AN INVALID FOR LIFE.

The alarming evils and absurdities of the old system of Purgation, have led to the introduction of a new Life-giving Medicine, called CORNARO'S PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS, which are established on this new and only true principle of Purgation, viz:

NO PURGATION WITHOUT IMMEDIATE RESTORATION.

The use of this admirable Purgative remedy strikes a death blow to that abominable system, which by continually evacuating the bowels without any conservative or saving power, so dreadfully and fearfully prostrates and injures the unhappy patient. Those Purifying and Preserving Pills are believed to constitute the perfection of medicine, being a UNIVERSAL VEGETABLE PURGATIVE, containing two great remedies combined viz: One remedy to PURIFY FROM CORRUPTION; and another to PRESERVE FROM INJURY AND DECAY.

And for the purpose of attaining the highest degree of purity in the preparation of these Pills, Dr. Bradlee has, at a vast expenditure of time and money, invented and patented at Washington, a chemical and philosophical apparatus for distilling and refining vegetable extracts, called

THE SEVEN-FOLD FURNACE,

A powerful and novel machine—having Seven Fires and Seven Alembics, with distilling, condensing and evaporating fixtures of a new and ingenious contrivance, capable of obtaining more than seven times the ordinary purity of any vegetable extract heretofore used in compounding medicine. The Balsamic and Preserving power of these Pills is also, by this invention, highly purified and refined; and so mingled with the operative medicine, that it repairs all the injuries created by Purgation as soon as they are caused, and strongly fortifies the system against future corruption and decay.

Let the public be no longer deceived by the advertisements of the "one remedy" doctors, who show their entire ignorance of the organic laws of the human system by supposing that a medicine which purges merely, without renovating or preserving, can be a perfect remedy. For it is a fixed and immutable law of our being that there should be, in no case, Purgation without immediate Restoration, and hence it follows, and is proved to demonstration, that all Purgatives which DO NOT possess a saving and preserving power, are injurious, and injurious only—and possess NOT ONE REDEEMING QUALITY.

The whole theory of common drastic Purgation is based upon unnatural and absurd laws, and they who follow it fall victims to their own folly, and too late repent their temerity.

☞ BEWARE OF UNRELIEVED PURGATION! Purge and Preserve, or do not attempt to Purge at all.

☞ The celebrated PURIFYING AND PRESERVING PILLS, purify the body from corruption and preserve it from injury and decay by a single operation. They are a Universal Vegetable Purgative, of sovereign use in all diseases of the human system in which purgation is required, particularly in Jaundice, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Eruptions of the Skin, Scrofula, Piles, Costiveness, Bilious Disorders, Liver Complaint, Fevers, Nervous Disorders, Inward Weakness, Cholic, Dysentary, Worms, Gout Rheumatism, Female Complaints, Depression of Spirits, Debility of System, Fits, &c., &c.

☞ Price 25 cents per Box, with full directions, Essay on Health and Long Life, &c.

The upper box being composed of Chilled Iron, and free from any packing whatever, is not so liable to get out of order as all other pumps constructed with packing.

Freezing may be avoided in this pump by raising the brake to its extreme height, so as to open the valves that the water may run back.

The above pump, from its cheapness, beauty, compactness and durability, as a common house pump, surpasses any now in use.

In any case where this pump fails to do good execution on a fair trial the money will be refunded on returning the same. Please call and examine at N. JOHNSON'S, Stove Dealer, Nos. 80 and 82 Main-st.

POLITICAL.

MR. WEBSTER'S SPEECH.

Delivered at the Whig State Convention Boston, Sept. 19, 1844.

Mr WEBSTER, the President of the day, then came forward and was received with three hearty cheers, and "three more," as heartily given, and when the greeting had subsided, he spoke as follows:—

Gentlemen, Whigs of Massachusetts, Whigs of the United States—a common cause, the love of our common liberty, our affection for the institutions of our country, under which we live—and a deep and solemn concern for the preservation of these institutions and for the promotion of the great interests of the community have brought us here to day.

I behold, in this assembly, intelligent fellow citizens, persons patriotically devoted to the great cause of the constitution of our country, from every State in the Union, and on behalf of the Whigs of Massachusetts I bid you, all of you, a cordial and hearty welcome. (Cheers.) I see here Whigs from Georgia, Whigs from Louisiana, Whigs from Missouri, from the whole West, as well as from the nearer gallant State of Rhode Island, (cheers)—from the pioneer State of Vermont, and firm Whigs—for true hearted Whigs there are—even from New Hampshire and Maine, (cheers.) It is not the cause of Massachusetts alone, it is the cause of all States, the cause of constitutional liberty and good government, which we are all attached to, for which we are assembled here to-day. (Repeated cheers.)

Gentlemen, we to-day lay no offering on the altar of personal or local sacrifice; we would to-day tear from our hearts any vulgar ligament that connects us with any other place than our country and our whole country, and every sentiment that arises in them that does not teach us that we are Americans, and Americans altogether. (Cheers.)

We have visited to-day, gentlemen, many scenes celebrated, almost sanctified, by revolutionary occurrences. What we have seen has carried us back to the days of our fathers, when they stood, for their lives and liberties, against the greatest power in the world, with stout hearts and strong hands, in those days of '75, of the American Revolution. What a train of thought arises,—and will forever arise in the hearts of all true lovers of liberty,—when the mind is carried back to the great event of the age, the American Revolution. There are some things, gentlemen, which are lessened and rendered of less importance by distance in time and in space. The Comet which glances over our hemisphere, filling nations with dread, disappears and is forgotten. Even the great fixed luminaries of our system are half obscured by distance, and are hardly seen but by aid of artificial light. But it is not so with the great achievements of men; not so especially with the great achievements of men contending in the cause of civil liberty; and not so especially with the events of the American Revolution.—The farther we go from them the more distinct appears its disk in the sphere of history, and it shows itself larger and larger as it is contemplated from a greater and greater distance; and it will not be until, when in ages to come it shall appear to be almost co-temporary with the early struggles and the first movements of civil liberty, that it will appear in all its glory, and with all its consequences. (Cheers.)

That we have thus refreshed ourselves by these revolutionary remembrances, that we have drunk deeper of these revolutionary springs, is better for us, makes us better men, better political men, better citizens. And I bid you welcome in the spirit of the common liberty which the old thirteen achieved, (cheers) in the spirit of the union which makes us one great people, under which we live, under which we will die, and which you and I mean to defend, with all our power, and to the last grasp. (Cheers.) To all of you, every one, all true descendants of the Whig faith, living under the union and the institutions, coming from the great and good cause of the Revolution, once more I say, welcome, welcome, welcome! (Loud and repeated cheers.)

But, gentlemen, I have farther to say, that we meet here to-day, in the spirit of 1775, to resist an attempted revolution of 1844. (Cheers.)—We have come, in the spirit of the old, to protest against a new revolution; we have come in the spirit of the war itself and of the institutions which after the war our ancestors established for us, to protest against innovation, against reckless experiment and violent change, to preserve the inheritance bequeathed to us by our fathers, and to guide our institutions and our government in pursuance of the principles of 1775.

Now, gentlemen, if there be any reason for this great assemblage, if there is anything serious in the political condition of the country, it is because in this our day there is something attempted which amounts to a change, equivalent to a revolution in our affairs; not of the form of the government—for you all know that a form of government may remain unchanged, while its whole spirit may evaporate, and the objects of its enemies are accomplished. But we are here because there is before us, in a dangerous form, that which portends a dangerous revolution in our national identity; first as to the extent and boundary of these United States themselves, and then as to the great principles and policy which have animated to their government from the first.

I do not propose to go at any length into the consideration of these subjects, but I cannot avoid saying a word or two on each of the propositions; first, to give a new territory to the United States, and second, that which we know to be the sentiment advanced by a whole party, the desire to subvert that which we know to be the fundamental principle upon which the Government has been conducted from 1789 downward.

We are now on the eve of a general election. There are candidates already before us, proposed by those espousing one and the other side of these propositions; and it is for the country and the people to say which of the candidates is best qualified, if elected, for the management of the public good and the preservation of the national honor and interest.

As to Texas, it is well known that the Union of that whole territory to this country was among the stirring projects presented in the last Congress,—which has thus far failed, having been defeated in the Senate, thanks to the integrity of that body—but which is not abandoned and is still one of the projects of the party by whom it was first introduced. I shall not descant at this time upon the evils of this project. They have been fully laid before the public, and will suggest themselves to every man's mind.—The question is,—if we desire to keep the United States as they are, without diminution and without augmentation, to preserve and observe their established boundaries, how are we to accomplish it? There are before us two candidates for the Presidency. One of them is not only a Texas candidate, but he was selected for the very reason that he is in the favor of annexation, and not only without this would he never been thought of, but except though the annexation of Texas he will never be remembered. (Laughter and cheers.)

Any man who supports James K. Polk, means to annex Texas to the United States. He cannot deny it; as well might the man who, with a deadly weapon strikes a deadly blow. The act speaks for itself. No gloss can cover it, no commentary can explain it away. It is either Polk and Texas, or neither Polk nor Texas. (Cheers.) Now gentlemen, on the other side we have Henry Clay. (Hearty cheers, long and loud.) Mr Clay's opinions on this subject of Texas have been clearly expressed. Now, gentlemen, I do not know any man in public or in private, who took ground against the annexation of Texas earlier than myself. It so happened that some seven years ago,—being a man never afraid of committal,—I took this ground on general principles, and on principles in my opinion as valid now as then. This opposition to annexation is therefore with me no new sentiment, and I for one say, gentlemen, that under the present circumstances I give my vote heartily for Mr Clay, (cheers) and I so give it because—among other things—he is pledged against the annexation of Texas, and I would not give it if he was not.—With other opinions of his I shall not now hold controversy; but I hold with him on this point, because I hold that the annexation of Texas would be the perpetuation of African slavery and the tyranny of race over race on this continent, and therefore I will have nothing to do with it. (Cheers.) If there are persons who think that in the progress of natural causes Texas would become a region of free States, if, nevertheless, they agree with me that its annexation is to be opposed firmly and boldly, I go with them on that question. Now Mr Clay has told us that in his opinion annexation is to be opposed unless it meets with the common consent of the country; that a new partner is not to be admitted without a general national consent of the partnership; and I hold that he is bound by these opinions. I take his pledge and I stand upon it. (Cheers.) I believe that he is a man of truth, and I stand upon it. We take him at his word, and he dare not forfeit that word. (Cheers.)

This is a question in regard to which time is everything. If Clay is elected, it remains as it is for four years. There is time to rally the good sense of the country, to examine the subjects in all its bearings, and an opportunity to see how Texas may be annexed without violence, with some security for human liberty, and without war with Mexico.

We are then in this position. Those who really wish to oppose the annexation of Texas have no choice whatever. I know that there will be local and personal preferences, but I say that there is no great good to be done without entire union of the whole Whig party; not without meet concession on this part, not without agreement to differ on things not essential, while it goes forward unitedly on the great object which all desire to accomplish. Now if we are agreed on the results, in this respect as in others, our cause is just, our union is perfect. (Loud cheers.)

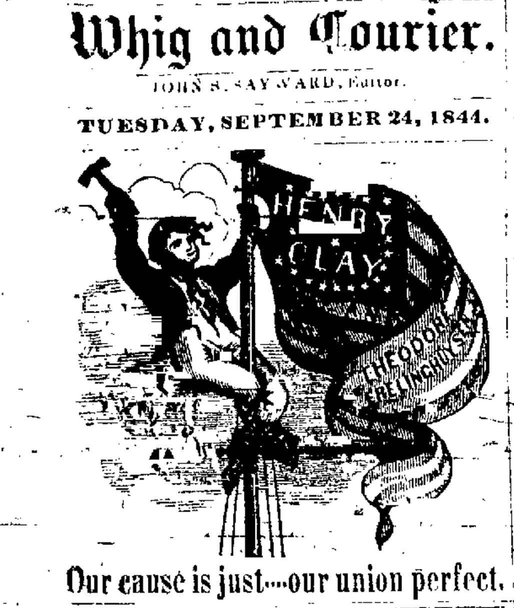

Gentlemen it is not the sentiments that I utter that make me hoarse, (cheers and laughter) nor this assembly about me that embarrasses me; but my inability arises from unfortunate causes connected with my health. But I must proceed to say, however, that this is a matter that I wish to present to the candor and conscience of every man in this assembly and in the community, who thinks that the annexation of Texas is an evil to be deprecated, and who nevertheless hesitates or doubts whether it is his duty in November next to give his vote for the Whig ticket. I hold this to be a question fit for every honest man's consideration in his own closet, in retirement and before the power he expects to judge him. Does any man mean so to exercise his elective franchise as to prevent the annexation of Texas?—if he does so, is there anything in the world for him to do, in the whole scope of human reason, but to vote the Whig ticket?—Most unquestionably he ought not to vote for the other ticket; shall he throw away his vote upon the third party—as it is called,—that is a question for him to consider. Will he say that he will not vote at all? Is there an American, with a true, bold and fearless American heart in his bosom, who is willing to skulk away in a corner and not vote for anybody? (Shouts of "No, no, no," from the crowd.)

No. I say the elective franchise is a trust. He who sports with it trifles not with his own interest only but that of every member of the community, with a trust we are all bound to execute with all good fidelity to our country. It is a franchise that we are bound to exercise, and I say that it is the first duty of the citizen to inform his conscience as well as he can and then give his vote, according to his conscience, and leave the consequences to God.—Can he give an honest vote, if he believe the annexation of Texas to be an evil, if he give such a vote as will indirectly bring about that annexation? It may not be matter of much moment here in our own State, but take the States around us where the plurality system is in force; if he votes for the third party does he not give to the Texas party that which alone might have prevented the result which he deplores? I wish this question to be put to every voter throughout the country. I wish men to examine themselves, divested of party excitement, and judge in their own consciences what they are called upon to do. And I leave it to them to reflect what would be the course of their own sentiments and feeling hereafter, in looking back upon this act—an act to be done but once—for all, if evil should result, if what they deprecate should take place, because they have [illegible] of the cause which is the only chance of the [illegible] and the project. And what would be their feelings if they have thrown away their franchise, and left things to take their own course [illegible] results! But I do not propose to allude to an [illegible] concerns ourselves particularly.

Political Missionaries Among the Madawaska Settlers.

People at a distance may find it difficult to account for the great influence of a few State officers in the political opinions of the settlers at Madawaska. Indeed some of our own people do not understand how it can be. Of the fact there is no doubt for the return of votes proves it. The reasons for it may be gathered from the character of the settlers and of the State Officers employed there and their mode of discharging the self imposed labors of political missionaries.

There are about eighteen hundred French settlers in Madawaska and their character, in September of last year was stated by Col. Gorham Parks in a public memorial as follows:—

"All these inhabitants are decendants of Arcadian French settlers and there is not one native American settled within their limits other than the French above stated, very few of whom can speak English, and but three or four that can write their names. Not one of them with the exception of the Catholic Priest is capable of exercising the duties of a Magistrate or of filling the meanest Town or Plantation Office.

They have hitherto been under the English government and jurisdiction—are wholly ignorant of our laws, customs, institutions and government, and it will be many years before American citizens, shall have gradually mixed in among them, so that the State of Maine will be able to extend to them the same kind of jurisdiction that she does to the rest of her citizens."

* * * * *

"Feeble, timid, habitually dependent they have beheld the removal of the U. S. Troops from Fish River with a solicitude and apprehension which it is difficult to convey to one wholly unacquainted with their ignorance, want of self dependence, and long cultivated fear of resisting any force."

A similar description of them is given by the Land Agent of this State—by the Commissioners of this State in their official correspondence, and by those persons generally who are acquainted with them.

This is the sort of people these officials had to deal with. They were clothed with the authority of the State—officers of the government—in the expressive terms of the settlers, "big men." They have swayed their votes to their liking.

While the locos are rejoicing that they have carried the election we wish them to remember that the election was carried by such means as we have mentioned and then rejoice as best they may.

We would impress it upon the Whigs of other States that from the example which Maine has given, they may expect to find in all the States, an under current of low cunning, artfully contrived falsehoods and base appeals. Do not rely upon the strength of your arguments alone without seeing and talking with men personally and be sure that every Whig voter gets out to the polls, and every friend of the measures of the Whigs votes the Whig ticket.

☞ Brother Drew of the Gospel Banner says he is a Mechanic in principle, though not operatively, and went to Portland to attend the Mechanic State Convention. We wish he had reported himself on the spot as the delegates from that part of the State were mighty scattering. The reason, probably, why Br. Drew is not an operative mechanic, is, that he is left handed—We guess he is left handed from the fact that his papers come to his agent here marked on the back side, and puts it a right handed man awfully to run them over for the purpose of finding a name. If he was always right he would make as good a [illegible] as anybody.

☞ At an election of Officers yesterday in the Bangor Rifle Corps, [illegible] Foster was elected Lieutenant, Sam[illegible] [illegible] Ensign.

Agricultural Fair.

The Annual Fair and Cattle Show of the Penobscot Agricultural Society, will be held in this city to-morrow. Convenient pens for the exhibition of cattle, sheep, horses, &c., have been erected on Thomas's Hill, and the Gun House will be fitted up for the purpose of exhibiting various manufactured articles. It is desirable there should be as large an exhibition as possible, and that all our people should attend and witness the display of the agricultural strength and mechanical skill of Penobscot County, and by their presence encourage these annual exhibitions and cheer the wealth producers in their honorable toils.

The women generally should attend to share the pleasure of the occasion and to aid the several committees in their difficult work in awarding premiums to the most deserving, especially in needle work and household manufactures.

It is probable there will be a large show of fruits, and we would request our fair readers to hand in bunches of flowers to add elegance to the scene.

Let there be a general turn out of old and young on the occasion, and make this agricultural exhibition a regular Holiday. There will be some good speaking on the field between twelve and one o'clock.

☞ The Washington Correspondent of the New York Express states that Senator Buchanan declared a few days since, that the Loco party can carry Pennsylvania if they can make the people believe that Polk is in favor and Clay against the Tariff. Abominable as such an attempt must be yet it is artfully attempted and pertinaciously persisted in, not only in Pennsylvania but wherever there is an interest to be affected by a Tariff for protection. The disclosures since the election in this State clearly enough show that parallel with the public addresses of the Whigs there was carried on an under current, too low to be reached by the means made use of by the Whigs and of every variety of character suited to local and individual tastes prejudices and desires. Reputed honorable men engaged in this under movement.—The existence of it as an organized regular system was not detected before the election for the want of that close organization and personal effort among the Whigs which should have been made. To what extent this may prevail in other States we know not and it can only be known by a thorough system of organization nor overcome but by personal efforts. Take warning Whigs and work.

Fire at Steuben.

On Saturday night last the Saw Mill, Grist Mill and Lath Machine owned by Samuel True formerly of this city were entirely consumed by fire. The fire was first discovered in a large pile of slabs and wood which could not be arrested in season to save the mills. Loss estimated at $1,000 and probably not insured. These mills were built by Mr True and were among the very best in the State. It is supposed the fire was set with the intention of burning the mills.

☞ The first anniversary of the Associate Alumni of the Bangor High School will be celebrated this evening at Rev Mr Pomroy's Church by an Oration, a Poem and suitable religious exercises. See notice in another column.

A stump orator, wishing to describe his opponent as a soulless man, said:

"I have heard some persons hold to the opinion that just at the precise moment after one human beings dies, another is born, and that the soul enters and animates the new-born babe.—Now I have made particular and extensive inquiries concerning my opponent there, and I find that for some hours previous to his nativity, nobody di d! Fellow citizens, you may draw the inference!"

'English Fashions.'

The Locomo Post objects to Mr Clays doctrine that we must protect our own Industry by discriminating duties as long as other nations with which we trade do so as between their products and producers and ours. This the Post considers following "English Fashions," and thereupon descants as fairly and as sharply as would be expected from that paper.

Now the Post has never dreamed of applying the principles it upholds in this case to any thing else than the questions in controversy between the two parties. It has never proposed the overthrow of our navigation Laws, so as to allow Foreign nations to compete in our coasting Trade, without regard to their restrictions on our Trade.—If a Foreign Nation imposes an exorbitant Tonnage Duty on our Ships so as to shut our vessels out of their ports, will the Post contend that we ought to impose no countervailing duty? Will that paper answer?

We do not remember that Thomas Jefferson was ever accused of any strong predilection for 'English Fashions.' Yet in his report of 1793 on the subject of Commercial Regulations, after avowing our desire as a People for a liberal trade with other Nations, he proceeds.

"But should any nation, contrary to our wishes, suppose it may better find its advantage by continuing its system of prohibitions, duties, and regulations, it behooves us to protect our citizens, their commerce and navigation, by counter prohibitions, duties and regulations also. Free commerce and navigation are not to be given in exchange for restrictions and vexations, nor are they likely to produce a relaxation of them.

"The following principles, founded in reciprocity, appear perfectly just, and to offer no cause of complaint to any nation:

"1. Where any nation imposes high duties on our productions, or prohibits them altogether, it may be proper for us to do the same by theirs; first, burdening or excluding these productions which they bring here in competition with our own of the same kind; selecting next, such manufactures as we take from them in greatest quantity, and which, at the same time, we could the soonest furnish to ourselves, or obtain from other countries; imposing on them duties, lighter at first, but heavier and heavier afterwards, as other channels of supply open.—Such duties having the effect of indirect encouragement to domestic manufacture of the same kind, may induce the manufacturer to come himself into these states, where cheaper subsistence, equal laws, and a vent of his wares, free of duty, may ensure him the highest profits from his skill and industry. And here it would be in the power of the State Government to co-operate essentially, by opening the resources of encouragement, which are under their control; extending them liberally to artists in those particular branches of manufacture, for which their soil, climate, population and other circumstances have matured them; and fostering the precious efforts and progress of household manufacture, by some patronage, suited to the nature of its objects, guided by the local information they possess, and guarded against abuse by their presence and attentions. The oppressions on our agriculture in foreign ports would thus be made the occasion of relieving it from dependence on the counsels and conducts of others, and of promoting arts, manufacture and population at home."

Am State papers, Vol. 1 p 300.

Here is the precise doctrine of Mr Clay's Raleigh Speech. Will the Post point out its fallacies? To us it appears the clearest dictate of true Statesmanship.

Further Refutation—[illegible] lay at Home. The subjoined letter from the Presbyterian clergyman at Lexington, Ky will be seen, most fully corroborates the testimony of Rev. Dr. Bascomb of the Methodist church, and in fact the testimony of all Mr Clay's neighbors, concerning his personal character and the esteem which his private life has awakened where he is best known—in the bosom of his neighbors, of all religious sects.

LEXINGTON Aug. 27th, 1844.

Dear Sir—Your very polite and respectful favor of the 19th inst is now before me, and without unnecessary delay, I reply to your inquiry. You state that it is in the mouth of almost every political seeker, opposed to the election of Hon. Henry Clay, and is heralded forth from every man of desperately bad moral character, and that such is his standing in Lexington, and throughout his neighborhood. You desire me to state what Mr Clay's standing at home and among his neighbors, is.

I have been the pastor of the first Presbyterian church, Lexington, nearly 22 years. My first residence, when I came to this place, was [illegible] Mr Clay's farm, and [illegible] I have lived in the neighborhood, and have known this honorable gentleman, it gives me pleasure to say that I have never witnessed an act, or heard an expression from Mr Clay, that was not in conformity with the strictest morality; his character among the great mass of his neighbors, is that of a high-minded, honorable, kind, and benevolent gentleman. In a word, sir, I believe that Mr Clay's moral character is as good, and far better than most of the political men with whom I have been acquainted, and I consider him more pre-eminently qualified in every respect for the Presidency of the United States at the present crisis, than any man in them. And the honest and unobtrusive desire of my heart is that in the good Providence of God be may be elected to that high and responsible office.

Yours, most respectfully,
N. H. HALL.

☞ The following resolution was passed at the meeting of the Bangor Mechanic Association on Friday evening:

☞ If you are ailing with a mild cough, a slight pain in the side, or occasional darting pains through the chest or in the region of the shoulder blade, and wish some excuse for lounging. Try it, that is your wish doctor yourself with candies, syrups, and mixtures, prepared by quacks and recommended by forged certificates, and you will soon be gratified; but after you become tired of this pastime, use Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, and the bloom of health will again tinge your hitherto pallid cheek.

This Balsam is devoid of all quackery being prepared by a skillful chemist; and its efficacy is proved by the numerous testimonials of cures in cases deemed incurable. We publish no statements of cures that are not strictly true. R. Dunlap and son, merchants, Cherry Valley, N. Y., relate a cure of Asthma that had withstood medical treatment for years. Dr Freligh of Saugerties, N. Y., says he cured Liver Complaint of four years standing, that would not yield to the usual remedies. Abraham Skillman, M. D., of Boundbrook, N. J. says, it is the best medicine for Consumption, in every stage, that he has ever known. We might refer to hundreds of cases, had we room, that would convince all of its great virtue.
